

The Commission's alleged insufficient action with respect to its former President's compliance with Treaty obligations