

Décision concernant l'enquête stratégique OI/2/2017/TE relative à la transparence du processus législatif du Conseil

Décision

Affaire OI/2/2017/TE - Ouvert le 10/03/2017 - Recommandation le 17/05/2018 - Rapport spécial le 16/05/2018 - Décision le 15/05/2018 - Institutions concernées Conseil de l'Union européenne (Classé après un rapport spécial) | Conseil de l'Union européenne (Mauvaise administration constatée) |

Cette enquête stratégique concernait la transparence des discussions relatives à des propositions de législation au sein des instances préparatoires du Conseil de l'Union européenne (le «Conseil»).

Afin que les citoyens européens puissent exercer correctement leur droit démocratique de participation au processus décisionnel de l'Union et demander des comptes aux personnes concernées, les délibérations législatives doivent être suffisamment transparentes.

Lorsque les 28 gouvernements des États membres au Conseil adoptent officiellement une législation de l'Union européenne, les réunions et toute discussion législative sont publiques. Néanmoins, avant que le Conseil n'adopte une position officielle, des discussions sont organisées au sein de plus de 150 instances préparatoires. C'est à ce niveau que la plupart des modifications de la proposition de législation sont proposées et que l'on tente de parvenir à des compromis entre les États membres.

Toutefois, les rencontres des instances préparatoires ne sont pas publiques. Les citoyens ne peuvent exercer le droit démocratique qui est le leur de suivre les discussions législatives qu'en accédant à la documentation relative à celles-ci, ce qui exige que les discussions législatives au sein des instances préparatoires soient correctement documentées et qu'un accès facile aux documents pertinents soit fourni en temps utile.

Dans ce contexte, la Médiatrice a ouvert la présente enquête stratégique en mars 2017. Elle a posé des questions spécifiques au Conseil, a lancé une consultation publique et a inspecté les dossiers législatifs du Conseil.

La Médiatrice a estimé que les pratiques actuelles du Conseil constituent un cas de mauvaise administration. Elle a spécifiquement critiqué l'incapacité du Conseil à prendre systématiquement note de l'identité des États membres prenant position au sein des instances préparatoires ainsi que la pratique répandue qui consiste à limiter l'accès aux documents législatifs lorsqu'un processus décisionnel est en cours (ce qu'il est convenu d'appeler la mention «LIMITE»).

Le 9 février 2018, la Médiatrice a formulé trois recommandations spécifiques et plusieurs suggestions à l'intention du Conseil sur la manière d'améliorer la transparence de son processus législatif.

Le Conseil n'a pas répondu aux recommandations de la Médiatrice dans le délai de trois mois prescrit par la loi. La Médiatrice a, dès lors, clôturé l'affaire, confirmant ses conclusions, recommandations et suggestions d'amélioration. Un rapport spécial au Parlement européen suivra.

Background

1. The Council of the European Union (the Council) is comprised of the governments of the EU Member States. Together with the European Parliament [1], the Council adopts EU legislation. Before the ministers from the Member States reach a formal position on draft legislation at Council meetings, preparatory discussions take place in the Council's Committee of Permanent Representatives ('Coreper') [2] and in the over 150 Council preparatory bodies attended by national civil servants, including so-called 'working parties' [3]. In many cases, these preparatory bodies have a decisive influence on the final legislative text. The discussions in all these preparatory bodies are therefore a crucial part of the EU legislative process.

2. Ensuring that citizens are able to follow the progress of legislation is a legal requirement. Under the EU Treaties, every citizen has "the right to participate in the democratic life of the Union" and EU decisions must be taken "as openly and as closely as possible to the citizen" [4]. The Treaties specifically require that the Council meets in public "when considering and voting on a draft legislative act" [5].

3. The importance of legislative transparency is also anchored in the EU's rules on public access to documents [6]. These rules state that "legislative documents" must be directly accessible to the public to the widest possible extent [7].

4. In the context of concerns about a perceived lack of accountability of, and consequent lack of opportunity for, citizens to participate in the legislative activities of the Council, the Ombudsman decided to inquire into the matter on her own initiative via a 'strategic inquiry'. The strategic inquiry

5. The inquiry focused on the transparency of legislative discussions in Council preparatory bodies. In particular, it concerned how the General Secretariat of the Council (the 'Secretariat') administratively supports the legislative process in recording discussions that take place between Member States in preparatory bodies and by registering, managing and publishing the related documents.

6. On 10 March 2017, the Ombudsman put 14 questions to the Council [8], to which the Council replied on 26 July 2017 [9].

7. The Ombudsman then launched a public consultation inviting members of the public, civil society, academics and national parliaments to put forward their views on the issues raised. All those who made contributions expressed concerns, to varying degrees, about the accountability and transparency of legislative discussions in the various Council preparatory bodies [10] .

8. On 23 January 2018, the Ombudsman's inquiry team inspected [11] files from Council on three legislative proposals that were finalised in 2016: the Data Protection Regulation [12] , the Decision on tackling undeclared work [13] and the Directive on the accessibility of websites and mobile applications of public sector bodies [14] . The inspection aimed to give the Ombudsman an insight into how the Secretariat produces, distributes, registers and publishes documents tabled at meetings of Council preparatory bodies.

9. Following a detailed analysis of the feedback received during the public consultation, the results of the inspection and the views put forward by the Council, the Ombudsman found that the Council's current practices constitute maladministration.

10. On 9 February 2018, the Ombudsman made three specific recommendations to the Council on how it could increase the transparency of its legislative process. She also asked the Council to reply to a set of suggestions for improvement [15] .

11. In line with the EU Treaties [16] and the European Ombudsman's Statute [17] , the Ombudsman granted the Council a period of three months to provide a detailed opinion on her recommendations and suggestions.

12. To the Ombudsman's disappointment, the Council did not reply to her recommendations and suggestions within the legally-prescribed timeframe, which elapsed on 9 May 2018. In view of the importance of the issue of legislative transparency, the Ombudsman decided not to grant the Council any extensions beyond this deadline.

The Ombudsman's recommendations

13. The starting point of the Ombudsman's assessment was the importance of transparency for the democratic legitimacy of EU legislation and the EU. Since the Council's preparatory bodies do not meet in public, citizens can exercise their democratic right to follow legislative discussions only by accessing records of these discussions.

14. For this to be possible, legislative discussions in the preparatory bodies must be documented; where Member States take positions in preparatory bodies, this must be recorded; and timely access to legislative documents must be easily available.

15. The Ombudsman found that the Council's failure systematically to record the identity of Member States when they express positions in discussions within preparatory bodies [18] constitutes maladministration. She also found that the Council's current practice of designating most legislative documents, while decision-making is ongoing, as 'LIMITE' [19] , thus restricting public access, constitutes maladministration.

16. The Ombudsman therefore recommended that the Council should:

1. Systematically record the identity of Member State governments when they express positions in Council preparatory bodies.

2. Develop clear and publicly-available criteria for how it designates documents as 'LIMITE', in line with EU law.

3. Systematically review the 'LIMITE' status of documents at an early stage, before the final adoption of a legislative act, including before informal negotiations in 'trilogues', at which point the Council will have reached an initial position on the proposal.

17. In addition, the Ombudsman made a number of suggestions to the Council on how to improve the transparency of its legislative process, with a view to enhancing the consistency of documentation generated within its preparatory bodies [20] and the accessibility of that documentation via the Council's website and public register [21] .

18. The Ombudsman suggested that the Council should:

1. Conduct a review of how it meets its legal obligation to make legislative documents directly-accessible. This review should be concluded within 12 months of the date of this Recommendation and should lead to the adoption of appropriate new arrangements within a further 12 months.

2. Adopt guidelines concerning the types of documents that should be produced by preparatory bodies the context of legislative procedures and the information to be included in those documents.

3. Update the Council's rules of procedure to reflect the current practice of disclosing legislative documents containing Member States' positions, as outlined by the 2016 Dutch Presidency of the Council.

4. List all types of documents in its public register, irrespective of their format and whether they are fully or partially accessible or not accessible at all.

5. Improve the user-friendliness and 'searchability' of the public register of documents.

6. Develop a dedicated and up-to-date webpage for each legislative proposal, following the example of the European Parliament's Legislative Observatory.

Conclusion

The Ombudsman closes this strategic inquiry with the following conclusion:

The Ombudsman confirms her findings of maladministration, her recommendations and her suggestions to the Council, as detailed in her Recommendation dated 9 February 2018.

The Ombudsman will make a Special Report to the European Parliament.

The Council will be informed of this decision .
