Subject Principles of Public Service

Not only is this document redundant, as it is covered in almost all its recommendations by the Staff Regulations but the inferences are quite scandalous. To paint a picture of the European Public Service as dominated by grasping, uncaring individuals, anxious to make a fast buck does not correspond to the colleagues I have worked with for over 20 years.

Content

I consider this text defamatory and worthy only of the cheap journalism of the Murdoch Press rather than of a European Institution.
