Our Ref: 11/0376/FB

Dear Mr Diamandouros,

On behalf of CEPOL, the EU agency responsible for the training of law enforcement officers across Europe, I would like to convey my sincerest regards to you and your colleagues at the European Ombudsman.

As a follow-up to the letter sent to you on the 31st of May (our ref: 11/0236/DS), it is my pleasure to update you on the progress made regarding having CEPOL related information available in all 23 EU official languages on our website.

The feasibility study I tasked my officers with identified important information regarding CEPOL and its functioning which has been translated by the Translation Center in Luxembourg. CEPOL has now created a web page to host these translations. From the website's homepage (and all top level pages) it is possible by clicking a new banner (see flags along top of screen) to access the new page. In the future, when we have further information to share in multiple languages, we will make further use of this page.

I hope you agree that CEPOL's website now offers its visitors a much wider and friendlier service than it did at the beginning of this year.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your interest in CEPOL and I am looking forward to working more closely together in the future in order to help improve cross-border police cooperation.

Yours sincerely,

Dr Ferenc Barti
CEPOL Director
